

62ND     MUSEUM BALL

OUTSIDE

62ND THE MUSEUM BALL

LINES

On behalf of our 2018 Museum Ball co-chairs Tricia and Troy Wallwork and Sue and Nick Willis, it is my great pleasure to welcome you to the 62nd Annual Museum Ball: Outside the Lines. Drawing inspiration from the magnificent geometry of one of our most popular works of contemporary art, Odili Odita's Gravity's Rainbow, tonight we explore beyond the boundaries of convention to offer a dynamic evening of delight.

The Birmingham Museum of Art seeks to spark the creativity, imagination, and liveliness of all its citizens by connecting them to the experience, meaning, and joy of art. As access to arts education in schools continues to diminish, our mission becomes more critical than ever. Engagement in arts activities both inside and outside of the classroom has been proven to significantly increase student performance. The funds raised this evening provide vital support for hundreds of educational initiatives carried out by the Museum each year, from school tours and community outreach to innovative exhibitions and public programs.

I am extremely grateful for the enthusiasm and leadership of this year's co-hosts, the Wallworks and the Willises, the efforts of the Museum Ball Committee, and the support of our many corporate partners and Museum patrons. Thank you for making this event a tremendous success. I'm pleased to report that your dedication has resulted in more than $650,000 towards the support of educational initiatives.

This year, we are pleased to feature the culinary talents of Rob McDaniel, executive chef of Spring House at Lake Martin. Rob and his skilled team have crafted an exceptional menu that offers a contemporary twist on traditional Southern cuisine. After dinner, please join us on the terrace for music and dancing with Nashville-based 12South Band, among the most sought-after entertainers in the region.

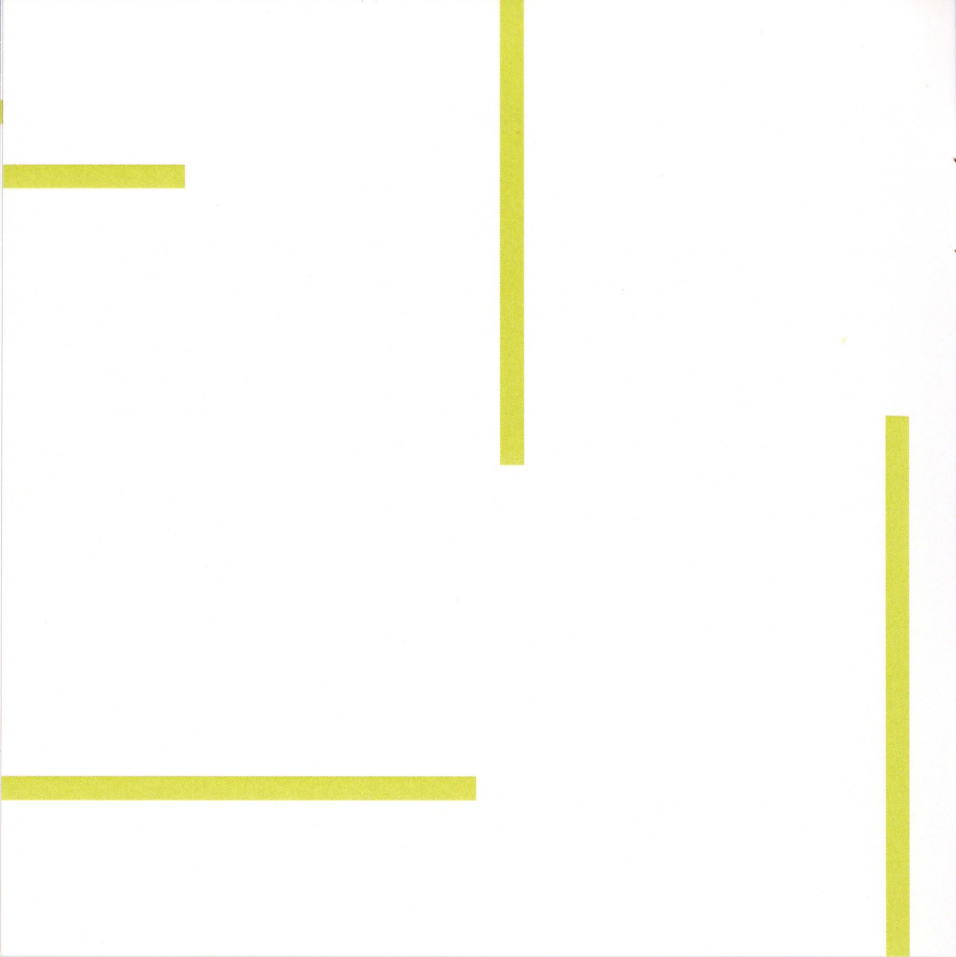

Finally, thank you to each and every guest here tonight. It is a special moment when we are able to fill an entire Museum with such generous and giving patrons, and your contributions cannot be understated. I appreciate your steadfast commitment to the Birmingham Museum of Art and hope you will enjoy your evening outside the lines!

Cheers,

Graham C. Boettcher, Ph.D.
